

At Voces sin Fronteras, we believe that Language should never be a privilege; it should be a bridge.

Our mission is to bring equity and opportunity to children in Hispanic countries that have limited resources by offering free online English classes and cultural exchange experiences.

In many communities, learning English is only possible for those who can afford private lessons. We aim to change that. Through interactive Zoom lessons taught by high school volunteers, students not only learn practical English but also explore American culture in ways that make the world feel reachable and connected.

Our goal is simple yet powerful:

To help every child believe that their voice matters, their dreams have no borders, and that language can open doors to a brighter future.

Together, we believe that education can break barriers, create unity, and give every voice a chance to be heard — without borders.

Our Story

Voces Sin Fronteras (VSF) began with a simple idea: that learning English could be a doorway to connection and equality.

Our founder, Kiara ViDemantay, wanted to create a program that gave children in Latin America access to quality English education, regardless of their financial situation. What started as a small online class in Peru has now grown into a community of over 70 students and 8 dedicated volunteer teachers, all united by the same purpose: to make learning accessible and meaningful.

Every week, our team of young educators meets with students through Zoom to share language, laughter, and culture. Together, we are building bridges: one lesson, one conversation, and one friendship at a time.

Our Classes

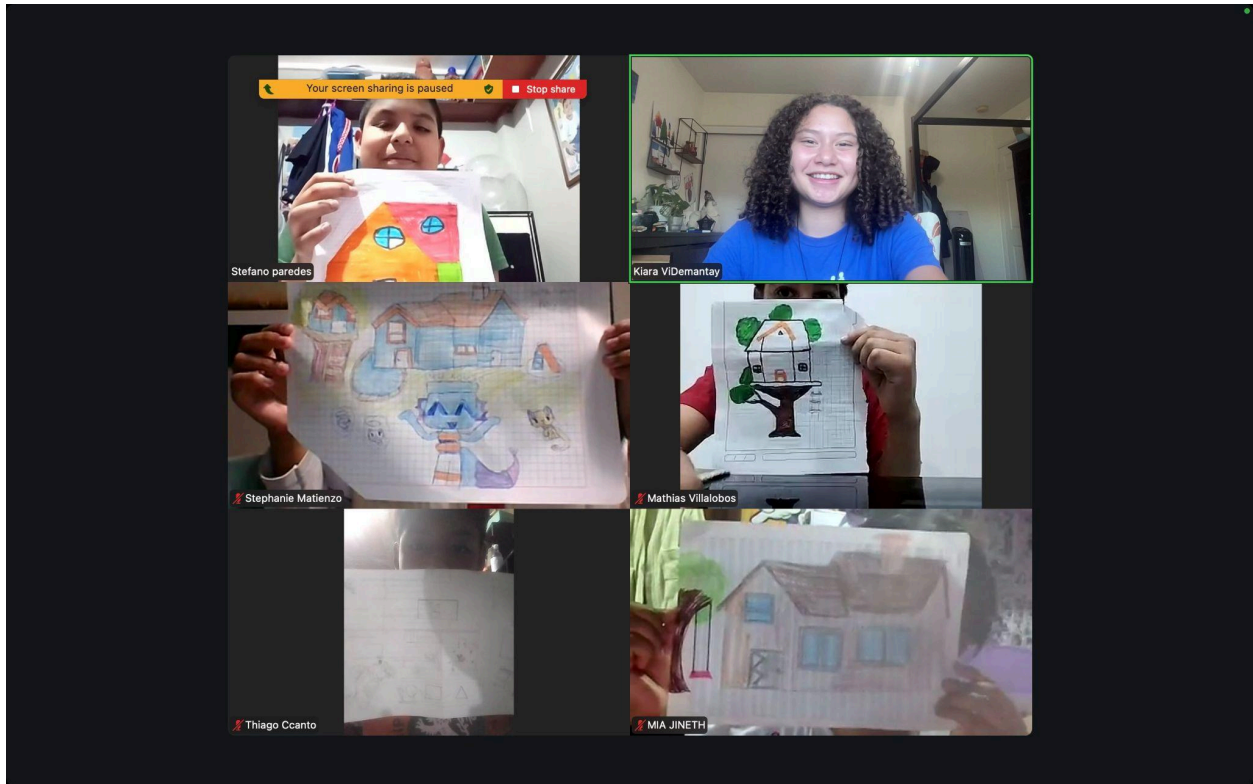

Our classes are designed to be fun, practical, and culturally rich.

Students from elementary, middle and high school learn to use English in real-life situations: talking about family, school, holidays, and hobbies ; while also discovering the diversity of American culture. Lessons are interactive, full of games, songs, and cultural themes like Halloween, Thanksgiving, or everyday life in the U.S.

Classes are taught entirely online and completely free for students. Our teachers are passionate high school volunteers who receive guidance and training to make each lesson engaging and supportive.

Our goal is to teach practical English that students can use right away; whether they're introducing themselves, describing their day, or talking about their favorite hobbies.

At VSF, learning English means more than grammar and vocabulary; it means opening a window to the world.

Why English Matters

In many Hispanic countries, speaking English is a privilege reserved for those who can afford private lessons. For others, that door remains closed; limiting access to education, jobs, and global opportunities.

Voces Sin Fronteras was born from the belief that language should be a right, not a privilege. By offering free English lessons, we empower students to communicate across cultures, dream beyond their borders, and see themselves as global citizens.

When we teach English, we are not just teaching a language; we are teaching possibility, connection, and hope.

Global Understanding

Our vision goes beyond English.

We want students to feel that the world is within their reach; that they can understand, share, and connect with people from different countries and cultures.

Through every class, our students learn not only how to speak English, but how to see the world with curiosity, respect, and confidence.

Because when we understand each other, the world truly has no borders.

Our Team

At Voces Sin Fronteras, our strength comes from our people; passionate young educators who believe in equity, community, and the power of language to connect the world.

Each of our volunteers brings unique talents, cultures, and dreams to our classrooms, creating a learning experience that is dynamic, inclusive, and full of heart.

Meet the amazing team behind VSF

Kiara ViDemantay Villantay

Founder & Director

Hola a todos! My name is Kiara, and I am a dual citizen of Perú and the United States. I founded Voces Sin Fronteras during my junior year of high school because I wanted to give children in Hispanic countries the same access to English that others take for granted. I have been teaching English since I was a sophomore, and I love seeing our students grow in confidence each week.

My favorite Peruvian foods are mote, picarones, and ceviche!

Natalie Castro

Volunteer English Teacher

Hello everyone! My name is Natalie, and I'm 17 years old. My family is from Mexico and El Salvador. I love folklórico dancing, journalism, drawing, reading, and playing the guitar and piano. I can't wait to start this journey with our students and share fun and exciting lessons that make learning English joyful and meaningful!

Italy

Volunteer English Teacher

Hi! My name is Italy, and I'm in 9th grade. I'm an upcoming nail tech who loves doing acrylic nails, and most things I own are Hello Kitty-themed! In my free time, I love playing Roblox. I'm excited to teach English and help students have fun while learning something new each week

Brianna

Volunteer English Teacher

Hi, I'm Brianna! I'm a senior and the president of Key Club at my school. I love cats, and I was born on a leap year! Teaching at VSF allows me to give back to my community and help students grow in their confidence with English.

Cielo

Volunteer English Teacher

Hi! My name is Cielo, and I love sharing culture through language. I enjoy connecting with students and creating lessons that are both fun and educational. Being part of VSF has taught me that even a small act of service can make a big difference in someone's life.

Anthony

Volunteer English Teacher

Hello! My name is Anthony, and I'm passionate about Roman philosophy, psychology, Greek and Roman history, and computer science engineering. My hobbies include weightlifting, drawing, and programming. I also love listening to music, journaling, and sleeping! My favorite food is carnitas, and my birthday is March 9th, 2011.

Ayme

Volunteer English Teacher

Hi everyone! I've played many sports — soccer, volleyball, archery, cross country, and track & field. I'm a big fan of comics (especially Batman) and love scary and claymation movies. I also adore the '60s–'90s era and spent a summer at an all-girls STEM camp. My favorite subjects are history and English. I'm excited to help students see that learning English can be fun, creative, and empowering!

Jazlim Ochoa (Jazzy)

Volunteer English Teacher

Hiiiiii! My name is Jazlim, but you can call me Jazzy 😊. I'm in 9th grade and have six siblings! I want to study architectural engineering at CalTech, and I love being creative (and never bored!). I joined Voces Sin Fronteras because I want to open new opportunities for kids who are willing to learn and grow.
